Featured Presenter

Dr. David Isen
Local Anaesthetic and Emergencies

David was born and grew up in Toronto. He attended University of Toronto from 1983 to 1987 completing a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology and neuroscience. While completing this program, David worked in research at the university and co-wrote and published a research article on epilepsy. He then went to Western University studying dentistry. Following his graduation in 1991, David was lucky to join a well-known, established practice in his old neighbourhood and maintains a private practice in the same suburban Toronto location.
